

Meagan Sloan
Indium Corporation

Meagan Sloan is a Technical Support Engineer based at the Indium Corporation's headquarters in Clinton, NY, USA. Meagan provides technical support, including guidance and recommendations to customers related to process steps, equipment, techniques, and materials. In addition, she delivers technical training to staff and industry partners. Meagan joined Indium Corporation in 2018 after receiving her master's degree in chemical engineering from Syracuse University. Meagan is a member of the American Chemical Society.