

Tom Tattersall
MicroCare Corporation

Tattersall has specialized in the field of critical cleaning for more than 30 years. He helps companies update their critical cleaning processes to improve productivity, and boost quality in a safe, economical and environmentally-acceptable manner. Tattersall is an expert on vapor degreasing and modern cleaning fluid technologies. He leads the MicroCare Critical Cleaning Business with the goal to help companies enhance their cleaning processes in industries as diverse as electronics, metal finishing, transportation, photonics, medical devices, and aerospace.